Shadows . . . . . Curriculum

Curriculum-the essence of school life, the anvil of learning, the heart of educational experience . . . . We learn from infancy-we begin to mature physically and mentally from the day we draw our first breath. Our lives are linked unalterably to the educational experiences we receive and our response to them. The random learning of pre-school life is soon replaced by the academic discipline of school known as curriculum-a new experience, a new academic force that will undeniably leave its imprint upon our mind and body.

Math-English-reading-writing-science-history-speaking-listening-and a myriad of other areas unfold their wings and whisk us away on a soaring adventure. Curriculum presents new ideas to be absorbed-rejected-debated-discussed-discarded. We marvel at the mysteries of science, the order of numbers, the fluency of language, the fascinating lessons of history, the soul-stirring message of the arts, and our identification with man and his monumental successes-his colossal failures.

Students' lives are measurably affected by their adjustment to the formidable rigors of study, and their personal success-or failure-may well hinge upon the degree they succeed-or fail-in the classroom.

Curriculum has left inscribed its impeccable marking on our minds, our bodies, our very being, regardless of individual response to the machinations of education. We cannot live it over, we cannot vow to do better, we cannot make new resolutions. The record of our efforts will shadow us for the rest of our lives.

Mr. Bibich and Mr. Jones work diligently over school matters.

Our progressive administration, diligent and hard working, is headed by Mr. Louis Cinko, trustee, Mr. George Bibich, supervising principal, and Mr. Fred Jones, principal.

Mr. Cinko, in his second year as Township Trustee, finds his job a great responsibility, but a rewarding and satisfying one. Handling financial matters, relating the school needs to the public, and hiring personnel are among his various duties.

Mr. George Bibich, in his eighth year in the St. John School System, is constantly striving for improvement of the schools. Among his varied duties are the purchasing of needed school facilities, and the establishing of school policies.

Mr. Fred Jones, in his eighth year as principal, is dedicated to the constant improvement of school standards. He continually seeks to improve the general school spirit and to build school morale.

Mr. George Bibich is Supervising Principal.

Over nine hundred students are under their capable guidance.

Be sure to get your make-up slip in on time! Your appointment is tomorrow! This class is required! Detention! These are a few of the expressions commonly heard from our ubiquitous counseling staff. Mrs. Wease and Mr. Eberly have the much needed experience of dealing with school problems. Mr. Lawson, counseling for his first year, has proven his ability in guidance work.

Our alert, smiling clerical staff consists of Lela Howell, business secretary; Mrs. Loraine Moriarty, bookkeeper; Mrs. Kay Trapp, secretary-bookkeeper for Mr. Bibich; and Mrs. Barbara Purdy, school treasurer.

English is the most important of the world's languages and is strongly stressed at Dyer Central. Experience has shown that the prevailing lack of this knowledge is a serious handicap. The knowledge of English is invaluable to all students, because it is used in trade, science, and literature more than any other language. The English language has more words in its vocabulary than any other. The average person uses perhaps ten thousand freely, and recognizes and understands thirty or forty thousand more. The study of English goes hand in hand with the history of the English speaking people, gives an insight into their character, mode of life, and habits of thought. At the same time it teaches a lesson in broad tolerance, for it shows that our language is an accumulation of many languages, varying in particular areas of the country. It is with intense pride that we tenaciously grasp our rich language heritage.

Foreign Languages Aid Students

Students read in their German text books while Mr. Kavaliunas explains to them.

Dyer Central offers three foreign languages. They are German, Latin and Spanish. While learning the basic fundamentals, they are also instructed in the customs, traditions, and history of the languages. The language lab enables German and Spanish students to hear the languages spoken fluently. Charts and colorful pictures show the students the native dress and entertainment of the country. After completing a language course, students have an enriched interest in the language.

Mrs. Palmer instructs her Spanish class in the language lab.

Chorus Gets Bigger And Better

The chorus at Dyer Central is continually improving. Beginning with a mere handful of interested students, this year the chorus has expanded to approximately sixty members. The success of the chorus is due to the tireless efforts of Mr. Cox, director.

The members of the chorus are: M. Anderson, D. Austgen, S. Austgen, R. Benedict, L. Benka, T. Birmingham, L. Bogdan, D. Bohling, L. Bashell, V. Boucher, C. Carter, J. Cook, N. Cooper, C. Curtis, D. The Rhythmic beat of the drums and the thrilling blare of the horns introduce our fine Dyer Central Band. It has won many contests and has proven itself an exceedingly superior band under the capable leadership of Mr. Douglas Jordan.

The band is divided into many smaller divisions. Much of the thrill and excitement of the football games were provided at half time by the Dyer Central Marching Band. The precision with which they march and the quality of the music they produce have gained much recognition for them. At the basketball games, the cheering section was excellently supported by the pep band. The dance band has provided dreamy music for many of the social events of the year. Each spring the concert band presents a program of enlightening musical arrangements for the public. The band is composed of many outstanding individuals. They have attended many state - wide contests and returned with a diversity of awards.

The marching band is graced by the feminine beauty of the Centralettes. The use of two majorettes is a feat requiring intense practice and precision timing. They have added great distinction to the marching band of Dyer Central.

Mr. Douglas Jordan has been band director at Dyer Central for seven years. It has been under his capable instruction that the band has excelled. Mr. Jordan attended Butler University, and he has attained a B.M.E. He has proven himself a fine attribute to our school.

Math Reveals An Interesting World

Mr. Kern's class doesn't seem very interested in his attempts to teach them.

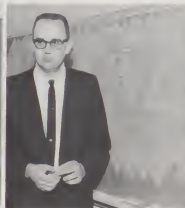

Are parallel lines really parallel? What is the theory of relativity all about? How was the size and shape of our galaxy determined? These are a few of the many fascinating topics covered in math classes. Science, as we know it today, could not have been what it is without the help of mathematics. Math courses have been made for those high school students who need useful mathematics which will prepare them for competent and happy citizenship.

Mr. Murrell Duffie
B.A., M.A., Washington
College

The science department at Dyer Central gives an unusually rich and illuminating picture of scientific thinking. They have offered thoughtful opinions on the possibilities and the limitations of science, what it can contribute to civilization, and what other ingredients are required to assure the progress of society. They strive to help students view the balance of both science and human values. Science teachers emphasize reason and wisdom in explaining scientific principles and exhort students to consult their hearts and heads to understand the phenomena of the world we live in. Modern science is not always easy, and when a student encounters difficulty, the teacher can only make every effort to enlighten, rather than to astound.

Judy Janes and Darrel Trent are instructed by student teacher, Mr. Grafton, on the science of Biology.

Need information, a quiet place to study or a good book? Then the library at Dyer Central is the place for you. Many students enjoy the quiet isolation of the library. Books of many kinds can be found there. Miss Arbuckle is very helpful to students who are in need of information. Catalogues and files of many kinds are available at the students convenience. The library provides a perfect atmosphere for study and relaxation.

Miss Kathy Arbuckle, our invaluable librarian; B.S., M.A.T., Indiana University, University of California.

Library Provides Studious Atmosphere

The Dyer Central Library serves as a quiet and accelerating place in which to study.

Cindy Punak, Diane Schubert, Dawn Smith, Mary Zyllo, and Lydia Ruiz watch as Miss Struve demonstrates the use of the typewriter.

Business Prepares For Careers

For those students wishing to enter the business field, the business department at Dyer Central offers a variety of opportunities for learning. Courses varying from secretarial practice to bookkeeping and business law provide vital experiences needed for this field. Students completing these courses have sufficient knowledge to succeed in the career of their choice.

Mrs. Pluchinsky instructs Diane Countryman and Joan Edwards in the fine art of cookery.

Mrs. Ann Pluckinsky
B.S., Indiana State.

Homemakers Of Tomorrow

Today's woman insists on taking an active part in planning and managing the family's future, and the home economics classes at Dyer Central hopes to prepare the girls for this event. These classes include cooking, sewing, home nursing, and child care. The girls learn to cook their own meals and sew their own clothes. It is a great privilege to be able to take care of those you love when they are ill. Home nursing teaches the students the necessary steps to achieve this goal. You can certainly be proud of your knowledge when the time comes to demonstrate this knowledge as a homemaker!

Judy Scheidt is attended by Cindy Bill in home nursing.

Mrs. Grau looks on approvingly as her class completes a difficult stunt.

Mrs. Audrey Grau

Exercise Builds Strong Bodies

Mr. Pilarcik gives instructions to his physical education class on basketball.

Health and physical education are two closely related subjects. When attempting to train the mind, educators cannot disregard the body and how it looks, acts, and feels. Physical education should be recognized as education through exercise rather than mere physical exercise. NO matter what plans he may have for the future, every student should have a foundation of sound knowledge and good habits for healthful living.

Training Creates

The buzzing of a saw, the humming of a drill, and the coarse sound of sand paper rubbed against hard wooden surfaces shatter the atmosphere of the shop classes of Dyer Central. Boys scurry back and forth, each with a definite purpose, as sparks fly from the welding torch and a machine grinds away

Senior Dove Payne learns from Mr. Milby how to core for the involved machines in the shop at Dyer Central.

Social Studies Prepare For

The United States is burdened with responsibility toward all mankind. Our admirable concern today with developing countries would have been more effective if we had assumed the role of world leadership sooner. It is for this reason that every student should have an active interest in the world. The social studies department of Dyer Central strives to (stimulate) this (interest) in world happenings. The study is designed to be most helpful to the pupil in getting a thorough understanding of what they have read and discussed. No one can fail to observe that we are living in a time of rapid change and bewildering problems. One of the purposes of education is to help each person to become a competent individual, able to make a living and to meet the problems of life. Another of its purposes is to help each person to get along with others. It is believed that the schools have no commission to reform the world, but has the inescapable duty to keep the channels of information open and the spirit of inquiry awake.

Alan Schindley watches as Jackie Kasper points out a point of interest on the globe to Mr. Mygrants.

Jackie Krebs explains a location as Dee DeVillez points it out on the map to Mr. Tennant.

Lively Arts Stressed At Dyer Central

Mr. Ruff demonstrates to his class the correct techniques of giving a speech.

The significance of speech in drama ties the two subjects closely together. It teaches every student to speak clearly and fluently - in conversation, in informal and formal speech situations, in dramatics, on radio and television, and over the telephone. It emphasizes the concept that what a speaker says is as important as how he says it.

The television system at Dyer Central is becoming increasingly important to all students. Closed-circuit television has furnished entertainment for homeroom and classroom time. Dyer Central's closed-circuit TV has attracted state and nation-wide attention. Since its appearance on the local school scene, state educational circles evaluate our program as the most complete, progressive system in the state.

Mrs. Lenora Smith
B.A., Indiana University.

Art and driving are two closely related subjects taught at Dyer Central. Driving is an art. Many broad courses in art are available for present day living. Art class provides for creative activity, appreciational experiences, and for functional use of art knowledge. Driver's education develops a workable attitude toward driving. The class concerns itself chiefly with experience. The vicarious experiences gained by the student prepare him for driving.

Activities

Social activities are often regarded as an unimportant part of high school life, but it is through these activities that we actually learn to live. Students . . . people . . . contribute feeling, mood, and sentiment to school life; without people, the school would be an inanimate stage; The entire creation of a personality involves not only a well-developed curriculum, but also a well-rounded social life.

The undercurrent of our activities vitalize the entire school, and it is these same activities that create enduring memories of our high school career. We will recall when we . . . cheered our teams to victory . . . feverishly prepared Homecoming floats . . . breathlessly awaited the final judging results . . . crammed for semester finals . . . attended the prom in all its splendor and beauty . . . strolled hand in hand with that certain someone. Whatever the future holds for us, we will never forget these moments of fun and excitement, even though many other phases of our school life will pass into obscurity.

For some, these things will be no more . . . but our activities will remain vivid in our memories as they simply become shadows of the past, as we tread further along the path of life.

Inconspicuous Moments

A typical day in the life of a student at Dyer Central High is one of a variety of seemingly unnoticeable instances—the boredom of endless lectures; the anxiety of a close-scoring game; the bewilderment of being discovered when off guard; the tranquillity perceived during a quiet moment; the studious brainwork to finish all your homework assignments; those devious moments of sly mischief; those instances of unenlightenment when the brain is an impenetrable wall; the panic and embarrassment of being unprepared for class; the anger and frustration of life's minor tragedies. It is the moments and feelings captured on these pages, and the many others we have experienced, that shall never fade from our memory. It is these little, inconspicuous moments and incidents that make up our school life.

Shoron Fouser and Jackie Siebert energetically lead the student body in a spirited pep session.

Sophomores receive long awaited sweaters.

Enthusiastic freshmen show loyalty to their school by joining together and singing the school song to the student body as an initiation into high school life.

The Gym Hosts Many

Located at the south end of the school, I am readily accessible to all and used for diverse purposes. I see the happiness of the students as they receive honor awards, I see them as they excitedly participate in the pep sessions. I see their tears and feel their despair at suffering a bitter defeat. I am there when seniors graduate; I stand in awe as juniors prepare for the junior-senior prom; I am there as sophomores jubilantly receive their sweaters; and I see the expression of fear and bewilderment on the faces of freshmen. I was there when Judge Obermiller of Whiting delivered his inspiring message to the entire student body. I attend every sock-hop, and I do my best to comfort the tired, the weary, the bored, the nonchalant observer. And last, but not least, I see eternal youth attempt to develop their physical abilities. Yes, I am the gym — the center of diverse activities. Now, as the day finally comes to a close, my lights are dimmed, the dust settles, and quietly I await the coming of tomorrow.

And Varied Activities

Mr. Mayhugh proudly receives an award from the junior class of 1964 presented to him by Sharan Putz.

Not all assemblies are interesting, are they John? Sharan Fausser, Cheryl Anderson, Mary Laskey, and Barb Rhoads participate in singing class cheer, but it seems that John Banks just can't put his heart into it.

Paul Ladd, Jahn Sedlacek, Jim Thiel, and Pete Bagden vigorously participate in intramurals at noon.

The now quiet and darkened gym assumes an air of austerity.

"Same people can't da anything right."

"What a way to play basketball."

Strange Things

Strange and fantastic things are continuously happening at Dyer Central. It's people that make up our school, and one must admit that these very same people can be hilariously funny at times. As you look over these two pages, undoubtedly you will recall the many ridiculous instances in your school life.

"Lase something?"

"Look fellaws only one hand."

"I am going to stay here until you say uncle."

"Has anybody seen my shoes?"

Are Happening

But these unnatural phenomena have not gone unnoticed. Our intrepid cameraman has caught Dyer Central's students and faculty in strikingly unfamiliar poses. Here are people, unsuspecting and, perhaps, unwilling, relating humorous instances of Dyer Central's scheme of life.

"But I wanted to ride the donkey."

"Ho Ho, you thought it was a blonk."

The cho-cha appears to be quite popular with today's teen-agers.

Ed Powell and Judy Potchman, John Campbell and Cothy Romsey dance the old stand by . . . the waltz.

Formal And Informal Dances

The twist, the standstill, the workout, the cha-cha — what do these bizarre names mean to us? Why, the dance crazes at Dyer Central! The waltz, of course, is still the old stand-by, and the one dance that nearly everyone can do. These dances that we do now, we will always remember. Dances, like everything else in this world, are not unchangeable. In fact, dance styles never stop changing. Dances are signs of the times. They reflect the lively outlook of exuberant youth seeking self-expression. As times change, dances symbolize similar changes in adolescent temperament and personality. It's these dances that we'll associate with our good times throughout our high school life.

Couples waltz slowly to the dreamy music of the Exports.

Provide A Contrast In School Life

"Fantasy In Frost" set the scene for an evening of enchantment at the Y-Teens winter formal, the highlight of the holiday season. Excitement, suspense, and happiness were the emotions felt by the couples as they swayed to the rythmical melodies played by the Johnny Nolan Band. Blue and white streamers created a dreamy setting in the decorous gym. The momentous occasion was brought to a climax with the crowning of the senior queen, Diane Czech.

A sigh, . . . a whisper, . . . a kiss stolen in the dim glow of the candlelight.

Rejuvenation and spirit marked the scene at Dyer Central during the festive Homecoming Weekend. King and Queen candidates and parading floats, accompanied by the stirring rhythms of the Dyer Central band, created a fascinating scene for the Homecoming Parade. Hours of feverish preparation yielded lavish and gaily-bedecked floats. Who can forget the anticipation and suspense that held all spellbound as the winning float was announced? The students and team concluded the pre-game pep rally with victory in mind, spirit in heart . . . goal in sight.

Spirit and excitement prevailed throughout the whole Homecoming Weekend—especially at the football game where Dyer Central's Indians triumphed over the Troopers of Gary Wirt in a close score of 7-6.

Sophomores win first place! The mouse was both original and creative and moved in and out of the float.

Top: Pep rally was concluded with the bonfire.
2nd: Excitement prevails at Homecoming game.
3rd: Seniors display ingenuity and creativeness with their unique float theme.
Bottom: Homecoming Dance brings a fun-packed weekend to a conclusion.

Homecoming Festivities

The King and Queen candidates are: Seniors, Jock Elder and Koren Jones; Juniors, Brant Klemm and Betty Rovioro; Sophomores, Candy Krajewski and Tam Mygrants; and Freshman, Linda Long and Don Wood.

The victory over the Troopers set the stage for an enchanting and entertaining evening at the Homecoming Dance. The memorable occasion was climaxed by the traditional crowning of the King and Queen.

For the seniors, this momentous occasion was an especially important one — it was the last Homecoming that they would partake in as students of Dyer Central High. The happiness, the sadness, the hectic moments — all would never be forgotten.

Sophomores produced a float that it was featured by the model of a the trop.

Ecstatic over their crowning, seniors Karen Jones and Jack Elder enjoy their traditional King and Queen dance.

The night has finally arrived. You are here at last, and as you enter the building, your eyes behold the shimmering loveliness of the entire room. As you stroll over the bridge, you become entranced by the quiet, still beauty of the lily-filled pool. Then as you pass over the bridge, you witness the gym transformed into an oriental garden of paradise. An illuminated, black pagoda in the distance . . . the iced buddha shrouded in flowers and ferns . . . the flickering candlelight at a table for two . . . the solemn fountain with its waters cascading in a purple radiance. Your dream evening continues and is enhanced by enchanting music that puts everyone into a romantic mood. As your evening progresses, the hands of the clock slowly glide toward the big event. Then as the clock strikes twelve, the great moment finally arrives! Susan Newland and Wayne Shupp are crowned Prince and Princess, and Cindy Breitzke and Dick Rakoczy are crowned the regal King and Queen.

For the juniors, it symbolized the attainment of their entire high school career; for the seniors it brought back memories of their prom creation of only one year ago.

Ecstasy prevails . . . "The Lure Of The Orient."

As we gaze through our looking glass, we see many current and fascinating fads and fashions illuminating the halls with decorous color. day. Fashions reflect the multitudes of personalities of the students; they also become the topic of many animated student conversations. Fashions come and go as the seasons change and as the new generations create new ones of their own. The special times, the dating times are a time for two — only two. Together we chat over a coke, converse at our locker, or enjoy each other's company at lunch hour. Together we view the blazing Homecoming bonfire, stroll hand in hand as another school day comes to a close. Together we move quietly to the soft strains of music, and bring a dreamy evening to a close with a tender kiss. . . then good night.

Clubs

Twice a day at approximately the same time, a sonorous voice booms over the P.A. system, informing one and all about the extra-curricular activities. Students listen with varied responses as club information pours from the speaker. "What club is it?" "What time was that?" "Where does it meet?" This club data and the P.A. system are inseparable. Clubs make the P.A. system an integral part of their planning, organization, and activities. Who can forget the rush announcement - The corrected error - The announcement that wasn't made - The bizarre skits - The vague announcements. These phases of club functions are shadows reflecting the immensity of our total club program. Clubs at Dyer Central play an important part in the extra-curricular activities of both students and teachers. These organizations create interest and enthusiasm. No successful school is all work and no play, and our extra-curricular activities are a very important part of our school lives. The shadow cast by our clubs reflects the close association of people with the same interests. The Dyer Central clubs not only carry out charitable activities, and raise money, but promote school spirit. Posters and pictures in the halls are evidence of the various activities performed by the clubs. Bake sales and other such sales provide money for the club treasuries. Despite the struggle and turmoil, club sponsors find a rich satisfaction in supervising the club. Sponsors encourage every member of the club to participate in the activities, because the activities are not only for the members but by them. The success of the club is up to each and every member. Organizations can be the entire high school career and still be a waste of time, or they can be only a portion of your valuably apportioned time and still have a full rewarding effect. The shadow of your club life may be a rewarding one with your effort.

The Advertising and Business Editors, Nora Duncan, Bob Spinuzzi, Gene Autry, and Allen Armstrong, work diligently to raise funds for the yearbook.

Cameramen, Jim Lewkowski and Larry Mayhew take time out to "Smile".

Mr. Robertson, Sponsor, Sharon Fauser, asst. Editor, Mike Muenich, Editor, and Rich Devine, Sports Editor, discuss importance of good layouts and copies.

Echo Meets

Before work can be done on any publication, staff members learn how to write interesting and factual copy, and be able to plan effective and eye-catching layouts.

This year the Echo staff worked diligently to put out a good yearbook and to meet their deadlines on time. Cropping pictures, making layout sheets, writing copy, and typing keep the layout staff very active.

The "Little Men" provided an extra attraction which ended the Echo-Kick-Off with a "Bang."

"WHO's THIS", is an expression once can hear frequently in the Echo room.

Deadline

Proofreading and final checking always rest with the asst. Editor and Editor. Their jobs don't stop there; they also write copy and assist others with their layouts and any questions they might have.

This year the staff boosted their Echo Subscription Drive by having an Echo Kick-Off. The Kick-Off, a minstrel show, provided entertainment and a hope for incentive to buy an ECHO.

The Layout staff, Marlene Anderson, Mary Kay Yuknis, Cheryl Anderson, Dayle Toth, Cindy Smith, and Ruth Hughes, eagerly work to have their pages in on time to meet the deadlines.

Nero Minstrel... This was the main theme of the Echo Kick-Off. Did you buy your Echo?

Two "unintelligent" southern gentlemen discussed plans to buy their yearbook during the Echo Kick-Off.

Comet Strives For Excellence

Discussing a recent issue of the Comet are Miss Anderson and Sharon Putz, while Pam Krajewski searches for a back issue. Dennis Gilliam and Ken Kelsey ponder an editorial, as Joy Eastwood takes notes.

The Comet staff worked hard throughout the year to achieve their goal—interesting publications. They used their imagination constantly to improve the paper. By always being aware of any new or unusual happening at school, many interesting articles were formed and developed by the creative minds of these people.

Formulating a headline for page one are Beverly Piepho and Barb Bucha.

Laurel Vicari, Sandy Ramsey, John Sedlacek, and Alice Peifer, business staff of the Comet, search for methods of increased circulation.

Through Hard Work

Jim Cleair and Bob O'Dell, sports editors, write interesting copy for a recent game.

One of their greatest enigmas was a financial difficulty, which was skillfully remedied by the business staff. Under the capable leadership of Miss Anderson, the '63-'64 year proved to be a very successful and satisfying one for the Comet staff.

Fervently writing copy for a page two layout are Mary Laskey, and Barb Thiery.

Nancy Todd and Jaanne Henry are also working on a layout for page three of the Comet.

"JACKETMEN"

The Jacketmen could be considered the honor group of the Lettermen's Club. A jacket is presented to the senior boy who has won two letters in the same sport. This jacket is the highest honor that can be bestowed on an athlete at Dyer Central. The jackets are bought by the lettermen and presented by the school to the deserving boys at the beginning of each school year.

"Sr. Boys' Champion Pig Chasers" ----Melvin Piepho and Jack Elder show "Pig" who's boss.

Sr. Girls, C. Punak, L. Liszczak and S. Fauser show their ability at "Pig" chasing during the annual Turkey Trot sponsored by the Lettermen Club.

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen Club is the leading club for the boys and is the most active. Membership is restricted to boys who have won a letter in a varsity sport. The club sponsors many different activities during the year in order to buy the lettermen jackets for the seniors. The biggest project the club undertakes is the homecoming dance. Its other projects consist of the annual Turkey Trot during Thanksgiving, an all school basketball tournament, a car wash in the spring, and the selling of football programs at the football games.

The heart of the pep club—the cheerleaders; the spirited voice of Dyer Central, the pep club. The cheerleaders and pep club worked together to boast school and team spirit. Despite a losing season, the pep club members never quit supporting their team. These girls were at each game, urging the boys on to victory.

The pep club officers were Alice Peifer, president; Wanda Kerns, secretary; and Penny Hanrath, treasurer. The officers and the cheerleaders worked shoulder to shoulder to encourage our team on the football field and the basketball floor and symbolized the spirit of Dyer Central to all fans.

Cheerleaders! Cheerleaders!! and more Cheerleaders!!! If you have ever walked down the halls of Dyer Central after school on Tuesday and Thursday, you would see these vivacious girls practicing until they have perfected the skills required for a good cheerleader.

Outstanding ability and leadership characterized the varsity cheerleaders. In addition to the old stand-bys, the varsity cheerleaders and reserves introduced many new and lively cheers.

This unique form characterizes the varsity cheerleaders as a group, always digging for new, snappy, ideas. From left to right: J. Siebert, P. Krajewski, B. Hall, S. Fausser, D. Toth.

The JV cheerleaders create a variety of new techniques, never before tried in the pep club in the years past. Back row: K. Wallis, E. Hera. Front row: M. Hilbrich, and C. Davis.

The freshmen cheerleaders, radiant diamonds in the process of acquiring a finishing gloss, sparkled with a beam of vim, vigor, and vitality. Back row: N. Johnson, T. Blaize, S. Austgen. Front: N. Easley.

The Y-Teens has grown greatly in the last few years. It has become the largest and most active club in the school. Even though there are more than two hundred girls in the club, the projects that are undertaken and completed are carried out with perfect organization and co-operation by each member. The activities of the club are many and varied. The members take part in bake sales, rummage sales, charity drives, Christmas caroling, and several other activities. This organization has warmed many hearts by their thoughtfulness and kindness.

And School Prestige

The Officers of the Y-Teens are an important part of the warthiness of the Y-Teens Club. President of the Club is Karen Furman; Vice President is Mary Laskey; Corresponding Secretary is Marti Blaskovich; Nara Duncan is Treasurer; and Alice Peifer is Recording Secretary.

Cindy Punak and Gene Fischer enjoy a romantic evening at the Y-Teens formal.

The Sportsmen's Club, which has enjoyed another very successful hunting season, is looking forward again to its annual trek into Canada. This canoe trip is the climactic point in the year for the sportsmen. The many Canadian lakes are a paradise for the fishermen in the club.

The Club encourages its members to practice sportsmanship and conservation. The members are taught to use firearms safely. The Sportsmen's Club helps build the character of the students at Dyer.

Sportsmen And Industrial Arts Promote Safety

The Industrial Arts Club provides an excellent opportunity for students with an interest in the industrial arts to further their activity in that field. The Club promotes safety in the shop and the correct use of all machines and tools.

Each year the Club sponsors a trip to an industry or plant in the region. Its members are exposed to different types of occupations which may interest them.

School Help Very Efficient

The transportation of students is left completely up to our invaluable bus drivers. From left to right the bus drivers are Mr. Byerly, Mr. Reitman, Mr. Ponton, Mr. Troop, Mr. Green, Mr. McBee, Mr. Hilbrich, Mrs. Byerly, Mr. Hoffman, Mr. Combs, (on step) Mrs. McBee, and Mrs. Green.

Mr. Hoffman is known and respected by everyone. He is present of all of our extra curricular activities and maintains order.

One of the familiar figures to every person at Dyer Central is Mr. Henry Kaiser. He has been directing traffic for many years, and has proven an invaluable safety precaution.

Fritz Jung has been a janitor for many years. He fulfills his duty throughout the day with many odd jobs.

Frequently the people who are essential to the maintenance and functioning of a school are not included in a yearbook. Without these people, the efficiency and productivity of a school day would cease. Our bus drivers, cooks, janitors, and police are the intricate parts of our school system that make the complete machine able to perform.

Taking money everyday, and issuing weekly lunch tickets are only two of the many jobs that Mrs. Cornahan does. Here Glorio Siedelman is handing her money for a lunch.

Everyday the students, faculty, and visitors are served delicious meals prepared by our cooks. From left to right they are, Mrs. Cathey, Mrs. Dinges, and Mrs. Ivy.

The Girls' Athletic Association is an active club that strives for physical fitness. The Members are invited to swim during the winter months. They also bowl during the winter. At regular meetings the trampoline, parallel bars, horse, and other gym equipment can be used by the G.A.A.'ers. Baseball is also a favorite of the members. During the course of a year practically every popular sport in the United States is played by the girls. The G.A.A. has been growing larger every year, and every year the members take a more serious attitude toward physical fitness.

After school activities of the G.A.A. are many and varied. Carol Savier is often seen practicing her basketball shots, and here our photographer caught her making a lay-up.

G.A.A.'ers Strive

For Physical Fitness

Donna Teutemacher is stretching as she can to reach that much-needed bowl.

Rayette Stefanski and Pat Main are busily working during Home Economics class. Rayette is working on a Christmas centerpiece, and Pat is diligently sewing on a project.

Future Homemakers

The Home Economics club is devised to create interest and proficiency in homemaking skills. The club has tried to promote skills in child care, first aid, and decorating. The club has tried to promote skills in child care, first aid, and decorating. Even though the Home Economics club is not the largest club in the school, it keeps its members very active with several bake sales, trips, and projects during the year.

It appears that Judy Scheidt has hurt her hand and is in need of First Aid. Linda Bricker is practicing what she has learned about First Aid from the Home Economics Club.

Students Plan

This year the FTA club was fortunate to have had a State officer in FTA. Dayle Toth, one of the Senior FTA members, was the editor of the FTA newspaper "The Blackboard". She has attended many meetings at Indianapolis. She has worked very hard to make the "Blackboard" more successful than ever before.

The Future Teachers of America is an organization which gives students who are interested in the teaching field the opportunity to understand the teaching profession. The students, by helping teachers grade papers, learn the techniques of teaching. This is the first year the FTA has been an active club. The FTA members presented $50 to the Roscoe Protsman school for a globe. They also presented a scholarship to the Senior in FTA who showed the most interest in the club activities and who plans to go into the teaching field. During the year, the FTA sponsors coat checks at home basketball games and dances, bake sales throughout the year, and a rousing book fair. One of the outstanding services the Teachers Tea, took place in May. A corsage was given to the teachers to wear during the day.

Future Careers

Under the guidance of Mr. Mayhugh, sponsor of the Medical Professions Club, the members got first-hand knowledge of medicine by taking trips to several hospitals. Some of the members help the nurse by working in her office. The main purpose of the MPC is to promote and encourage students to study medicine. Their annual service project is a visit to the Carmelite Home to present a short skit. Home made cookies and punch were served after the entertainment.

The Commercial Club has the responsibility of operating the bookstore. Many persons may be seen throughout the day buying numerous supplies.

Operating the bookstore is the main job of the Commercial Club. In this way, needed equipment may be purchased for use in the business department. Each year the members enjoy taking a trip to some type of business establishment, so that they may further their knowledge in this field for later use. Each day numerous supplies are purchased by students from the bookstore. These purchases are made under the supervision of the Commercial Club.

Nedt Award—Highly Coveted By Recipients

JUNIOR NEDT WINNERS

To receive an NEDT certificate is a very high honor. The persons who receive this certificate have to be above the ninety-four percentile of all the persons taking the test in their class. The main purpose of this test is to determine a student's rank in class, and also to calculate his individual abilities.

Several years ago plays were given for the student body by an unorganized group of students who enjoyed dramatics. In the last five years a "Drama Club" has been formed for the purpose of providing skits, plays, and other entertainment for the student body and faculty. This is not the complete purpose of the club, however. The members learn make-up techniques, as well as general stage tricks for producing a play. This year the club has seen a great increase in its membership. Both a Junior and Senior play are given by the Drama Club. As the club has grown and prospered in the past, it has hopes of continuing to grow and prosper in the future.

This is a scene from the Christmas play that was given by the drama club. Pictured are Nora Duncan and Dave Rojahn.

The Chess Club, in its second year has boosted membership, the increase coming as a result of its success last year. Last year, members participated in several chess matches with other schools and did exceptionally well. This year the Gombits are continuing their success in interschool competition. Also this year the club sponsored an interschool chess tournament. The Club stimulated interest in chess and in the club by the tournament. . . . . The Science Club sponsors the annual science fair each year. This is a large project for the club to sponsor because many students participate in the fair, and the preparations for the fair are endless. The members of this club are interested in scientific learning and techniques used by professional men and women. The Science Club has grown and has prospered in the past, and we will probably see many new advancements in the club in future years.

Jim Miel and Jim Lewkowski seem to be enjoying a game of chess during a library study hall.

Joe Kopf and Bob Sochor illustrate the fundamentals of Chess playing. Mr. Baker explains to the student body exactly what the boys are doing. The Chess Club appeared on the closed circuit television several times this year.

Mr. Duffie and Norbert Fortener conduct experiments on the effects of cigarette smoking in relation to lung cancer.

Taking notes on the fundamentals of plant-potting is Rasetta Gooding, while Frank Kleine pots plants.

The language clubs were begun for students who had an interest in either Spanish or Latin. Since then, German has been added to the school curriculum. Each year these three clubs expand by offering interesting and unusual activities. The German Club presented a Christmas play for students, teachers, and parents.

The Spanish Club visited the Museum of Science and Industry to see an exhibit of Christmas customs of foreign countries; viewed a stage show of Mexican Christmas customs; and also stayed for a Mexican dinner which was served after the performance.

The Latin Club had a "toga" banquet in the gym, which proved to be an immense success. The language clubs continue to serve the interest of their members.

Jim Miel and Susan Adley portrayed Mary and Joseph in the German Club Christmas play.

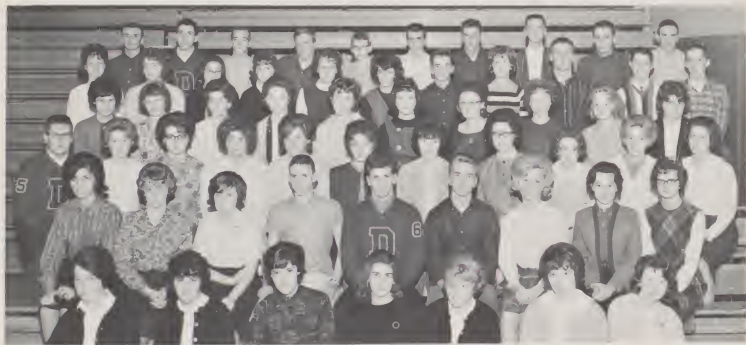

Working on the Constitution for the Journalism club are Ken Kelsey, Toni Clark, Randy Ferguson, Laural Vicari, John Sedlacek, Wanda Kerns, and Lori Liszczak.

The Journalism Club is a new addition to Dyer. Like all new clubs, their first task was the formulation of a Constitution. This club has been organized for the many people at Dyer who have a flair for writing or would like to develop their literary talents. Much of the time, individuals who enjoy reading and writing have no way of releasing their thoughts and ideas; but by the birth of the Journalism Club, many of these entities will now be recognized, that were previously ignored.

To publish a pamphlet of the writings of the students of Dyer is one of the main ideas of the club. In this way, the club promises to raise money and also grow to be one of the foremost clubs in our extracurricular activities program.

Student Aides Lend A Hand

The library assistants' duties are many and varied. Among them are distributing books, typing cards, and aiding students in search of books. Seated: Nancy Easley and Karen Jones. Standing: Miss Arbuckle, Norma Topo, Patsy Thomas, Vonda Biggs, Bill Tropp, Diane Schubert, Diane Countremon, Karen Palm, Joanne Tomecko, Rita Burris, Sherri Jalk, and Larry Bibich.

Lob assistants may be seen distributing chemicals throughout the day. Seated are Linda Davis and Bobb Hall. Standing are Alon Armstrong, Wayne Shupp, Kathy Zevkovich, Alice Peifer, and Shirley Burbage.

Without T.V. aides, the programs which are seen each day would not be possible. Standing are Carol Schiffbauer, Lorry Moyhew, Lorry Moriarty, Lloyd Smith, Jerry Powell, Scott Gillespie, Gerri Adler, and Mr. Iaconetti. Seated are Rich Devine, Eileen Hero, and Karen Kors.

Albert Gangolf at work with Art Club material.

The Art Club, under the direction of Mrs. Smith, sponsors many activities. Each member strives for a better understanding of Art. To become a member of the Art Club, a student must submit a poster with lettering or pictures. The officers and sponsor then inform these students of their acceptance into the club. Familiar sights around the school are the beautifully constructed posters. As their annual service project, the members of the Art Club fill Easter baskets with candy, Easter eggs, and trinkets. These baskets are then taken to the orphanage.

New talents are being displayed by a group of amateur photographers. The newly organized club made its appearance under the leadership of Mr. Mayhugh as sponsor. Their activities consisted of giving lectures discussing the processing of film and the printing of pictures. Setting up a photographic salon in the Science Fair was their major project for the year.

The Arts

There ought to be a photographer around here somewhere.

The coin club provides an opportunity for students to enhance their collection by trading with each other. The student body had a chance to see the individual coin collections at the science fair. Coin collecting is an art in which each person must know the value of rare coins.

This year, as in other years, the Student Council had worked toward the improvement of our school through social activities and well-enforced policies. A Student Council member must have a "C" average and must have had the recommendations of three teachers. Five members are selected from each class to give the student body an equal voice in the formulation of school policies. As their annual money making project, a movie was shown.

Dominate Leadership Organizations

Scholastics shine through the National Honor Society. Members consist of the upper 10% of the Senior Class. The selections are made by the principal, counselors and faculty. They are judged on scholarship, leadership, service, and citizenship. The main activities for the year were the slave sale in conjunction with the Future Teachers Association, a dance, and the selling of taffy apples during the lunch hours. With money made from these activities, a scholarship is given to one of the Honor Society students.

Shadows . . . . .

Sports

The Participants have left the locker room, soon to return. In the now silent dressing room, the hush of quietness is pervaded by the ghosts of past players, teams, and deeds-now faded into the shadows of yesteryear. These poignant memories of yesterday's heroes will recede into the shadows and give precedence to the experiences of tonight-experiences that will become the memories of tomorrow. . . shadows of victory, spec-ters, of defeat, joy, optimism, sadness, the rancid odor of sweat, shouts, voices, weighted silences, pep talks, injuries, tape, confusion-all these and many more will form tomorrow's shadows. It is here in the locker room that strategy is laid, uniforms issued, equipment checked and rechecked-the infinite regularities that occur year after year. The only change is the teams-each leaving its individual record, heroes, memories. . . shadows for the future.

Indian Squad

Head Coach John Tennant surveys the battle in hopes of coming across a winning strategy.

August 15 is a date well known to all high school football participants and coaches. This is the first official day for football practice in the state of Indiana. This year some fifty boys reported for the two a day practices with the hope of earning a starting position on the varsity squad. Also reporting the first day was a new head coach, John Tennant. Mr. Tennant, line coach the previous year, took over from the ailing Carl Yates who was unable to resume his duties as head coach because of a back ailment. Back as assistant coaches were Ed Robertson, line coach, and Mat Gorsich, backfield coach. Also joining the '63 staff for the first time was Al Pilarcik, who worked with the offensive and defensive backfields. Along with the new coaching staff came new ideas and changes. Dyer has long been known as a single-wing team, but this year, the Indians shifted to the T-formation in hopes of utilizing its talent in a more effective way. Another innovation was new to the practice routine, also. The squad began using isometric contractions in order to increase their strength and endurance.

Indians Suffer 1-8-1 Season

Randy Ferguson sweeps the end for a long gain against Griffith.

Below Jim Clear moves in far tackle an Hammond Gavit ball carrier.

The Calumet Conference was for the first year divided into two sections. The two sections were the East and the West divisions; Dyer being in the Western half. Because of this, the Indians failed to meet all the conference teams. Instead, the schedule matched the Indians against Hammond Gavit and a powerful Lebanon team. Lebanon downed the Indians in the season opener, 49-0. In the next two weeks, the Indians dropped a hard fought game to Highland, 6-0, and then were downed by East Gary, 28-6. The East Gary game was featured by an 85 yard kick-off return by Randy Ferguson for the Indian tally, but the Indian defense faltered, in the second half and the game fell out of reach. Against Crown Point, the Indians battled to a 6-6 tie until the closing minutes. With twenty seconds left, the Bulldogs turned an Indian fumble into a touchdown and victory 13-6. After this heart-breaking loss, the Indians dropped their next two outings to Lowell, 27-7, and Hammond Gavit, 26-6.

Indian defense moves in to stop ball carrier. Drew Furness (55) is helped by Ron Kelly (30) and unidentified tackler.

With the approach of Homecoming, the Indians stood 0-6. But the Indians, incensed with the thought of victory and spirited by homecoming festivities, were too much for the Gary Wirt team. The Indians, with a goal-line stand in the closing seconds, eked out a 7-6 victory. In the next two games, the Indians lost to Griffith, 27-0, and Merrillville, 46-6. In the playoff game, Dyer played Gary Edison of the Eastern division. The game ended in a 0-0 tie with the Indians finishing in a tie for eleventh place in the conference standings.

The players may not be in the thick of the action, but their hearts are still in the game. Above, Bruce Klander, and below, Jim Clear, urge their teammates on.

Only eleven boys are allowed on the field; the rest can only wait and hope.

This year's team featured Senior stalwarts at most positions. The Indian attack was led by Randy Ferguson at quarterback. His passing and running posed a serious threat to Indian opponents. The most elusive, explosive runner in the backfield was Greg Cashman at halfback, while Roger Parsons and Larry Stutler shared fullback duties. Parsons did the punting and booted out several long punts in key situations. Underclassmen who saw considerable action were Ron Kelly, Mike Hensley, and Jerry Klee. Two Sophomore quarterbacks who showed considerable promise in relieving Ferguson are Ron Schulte and Greg Stone. Dyer's offensive punch was considerably hampered by the loss of Bruce Kilander. As a Freshman last year, Bruce was the workhorse of the team; he saw only limited action during the '63 season due to injuries.

Line play was a high point of the team's strength. Led by Ralph Ochs, second string all conference tackle, the Indians had the size and experience which good teams are built around. Seniors Jim Clear at guard and Larry Moriarty, John Banks, and Mel Piepho will be hard to replace next year. Underclassmen who gave the team balanced strength were Paul Apple, Don Funderlic, and Ed Powell. The Indians had Seniors Rich Kenniger, Mike Barsosky, and Rich Devine, along with two juniors, Bruce Mokate and Frank Guess, sharing the end positions. Combining the returning lettermen and some promising underclassmen, Coach Tennant has talent returning to mold into a winning combination.

With the center jump, the game begins.

Dyer Central's cagers suffered a dismal 1963-64 season, but the record tells only half the story. The season was filled with many highlights, witnessed by the fact that the Indians lost 8 out of their 18 losses by less than six points. The two victories were both closely fought battles.

Coach Robertson had the difficulty of maintaining a starting line-up due to injuries and illness. Starting positions were held by as many as ten different players and everyone saw considerable action.

The Indians opened the season with a well-fought game against Demotte, failing to win by only one point in over-time. A pair of disappointing losses to Gary Edison and Griffith followed. Dyer rebounded and fell to Portage in a tight contest by only six points; and, after leading East Gary for three quarters in the holiday tourney, fell 69-62. The holiday tourney at Andean was another source of discomfort to the Indians where they lost both games.

Indians Plummet To

After losing to Thornton Fractional North at the start of the new year, the Indians began to pick up. Lowell, on a disputed basket, slipped by Dyer by only two points, 69-67. Then the Indians battled Crown Point, a strong team in the area, dropping the decision, 71-66. The Indians had been playing good ball and the break-through finally came at East Gary. The first victory was celebrated, 79-76. Several weeks later, victory number two came against Gary Wirt, 64-60.

The Indians finished 2-18 for the season and in a tie for tenth in the Calumet Conference with a 2-9 record. The Junior Varsity, under Assistant Coach Peyton, finished the year at 11-9, while the freshmen finished 5-7 under Coach Pilarcik.

The action runs fast and furious as the boys battle hard during the first half.

Half-time is a needed rest where strategy is plotted and defenses straightened out.

2-18 Season

In the Sectional State Tourney, all teams discard season records; and, although the Indians had gone down in defeat in their last 17 straight appearances in the tournament, the team defied history and entered the tourney, with one thing in mind-victory. The Indians grabbed an early lead from a strong Noll quintet, but were unable to hold on and saw the game slip away, 76-71.

Five Seniors dotted the twelve man squad this year, four of whom were two year lettermen. Rich Kenniger, an all-around good performer; Randy Ferguson, top scoring threat; and Mike Barsosky, a rugged rebounder, shared duties at the forward spots. Rich Devine, a guard-forward and leader in scoring averages; and Wayne Shupp, playing his first year of varsity, worked in the back court. Leading the returning talent next year will be Charles Vinson a junior who led in total points scored this year.

A time out is called and the boys catch their breath.

The game is coming to a climax and every eye watches the action closely. The anticipation of victory is sensed in the crowd.

Rich Devine takes a jump shot during Sectionals despite efforts of Noll player.

Greg Stone fires for two over East Gary opponent.

Wayne Shupp shoots over extended arm of Calumet man.

Charles Vinson shoots a jump shot over Bishop Noll player during Sectional action.

Junior Warren Pruitt is about to win his match by a pin over Gary Roosevelt wrestler.

Grapplers Eighth In Conference

Coach Rodehorst looks ready for action himself as he encourages one of his wrestlers to victory.

Of the many athletic contests in high school, wrestling has to be listed as one of the most demanding. It is a body contact sport which pits the strength, endurance, and agility of two athletes against each other. Bill Wilson a junior who wrestles in the 127 lb. weight class captured a first place in the Indiana Sectionals to prove his skill in this sport. Terry Carnahan, Tom Svast, and Dan Reese captured second, third, and fourth respectively in their weight classes. Adding up the team points the Indians finished seventh in the seven team Sectional.

Larry Myers has the advantage over his opponent in what turned out to be victory for him.

180 lb. Bob Pearson strains to hold his opponent during match with Gary Roosevelt.

The Calumet Conference standings is not determined through dual meets but is settled entirely on one Saturday afternoon. In the conference wrestle-off the Indians finished in eighth place with Tom Svast taking second at 138 lbs. and Bob Pearson taking fourth at 180 lbs. in individual honors.

For the season the grapplers finished 4-9-1 with wins over Gavitt, Highland, East Gary, and Adrean.

Bob Roe waits for the signal to wrestle from the referee.

Bill Wilson who brought back a Sectional title to Dyer in the 127 lb. class.

Golf Team Bolstered By Six Lettermen

Dyer Central's golf team has long established itself as one of the top teams in the area, and last year was no exception. Under the guidance of coach Jaconetti, the Indians have won the Conference title for five of the last seven seasons. The Indians finished second in the conference last year and ended up, 26-11, for the season with a conference record of 7-2. Jerry Curtis, Dyer's top golfer, qualified for the state finals by shooting a 75 in the Sectionals. The Indians lost only two lettermen and have six returning to frustrate various opponents again this year. The lettermen include Seniors Jerry Curtis and Al Keilmon, juniors Ron Kelly and Bob Roe, and sophomores Joe Bibich and Chuck Curtis.

Chuck Curtis, who lettered in his freshman year, lines up a putt on the tricky Lake Hills greens.

Jerry Curtis, first man on this year's golf team, has lettered four years under Coach Joconetti. Last year he averaged 39.9 strokes per nine holes in matches. In the Sectionals he shot a 34-41-75, which tied two school records, and qualified him for the state finals where he shot an 81.

Desire Earmarks

Coach Al Pilarcik, starting his second year at Dyers, is building a young strong team. Last year, with basically a Frosh-Soph team, the Indians finished sixth in the conference with a record of 6-5 and 7-7 overall.

The Indians lost five lettermen because of graduation, but have seven lettermen returning to bolster a team which will be a strong contender in the conference race. The pitching staff was hardest hit with the loss of two starters, Phil Govert and Joe Britton. The only returning letterman on the mound staff will be Senior Rich Devine. Two other pitchers who will be relied on heavily are Junior Bob Gerlach and Sophomore Bob Keilman.

The Indians started out by losing the first game of the season in the Griffith Invitational Tourney to Calumet. Starting the regular season the Indians defeated Hammond Tech, then dropped their next four games. But the fighting Indians came on strong from the middle of the season with six wins to two defeats. Against Griffith, the Indians scored four runs with two outs in the final inning for a come-from-behind victory 7-6. Against Chesterton, the Indians battled to an eleven inning tie before the game was called because of darkness. The game was replayed with the Indians outlasting Chesterton 7-6 and knocking them out of a tie for the Conference championship.

The young Indians suffered from a lack of experience but made up for it with hustle and desire. By never giving up, the Indians turned defeat into victory at times when things looked hopeless. It is because of this desire that Coach Pilarcik is anticipating a successful year.

Soph Bruce Kilander holds the runner close at first.

Senior Rich Devine throws a strike pass the batter as the fielders ready themselves.

Youthful Indians

Soph Greg Stone takes a ball high and outside.

Sophomore Bill Senzig clears the bar easily in the pole vault event.

Track is a highly competitive and individualistic sport. Although the team points are added up, It's the individuals who excel. Dyer's track team has its individuals who have advanced along the road of success and who have conditioned themselves to meet the challenge of competition. Randy Ferguson and Rich Kenniger, two Senior sprinters, hold several school records and will be two top point-getters in the '64 season. The Indians also have the distance running of Senior John Schilling, who is out to break Dyer's mile record this spring. Jim Senzig, top hurdler of the Indians, will be striving to improve his time and to help the team to a winning season. Coach John Tennant, with his new assistant Tom Peyton, have eight returning Lettermen to work with. Each year the Indians have been getting better in this demanding sport and they will be working hard to improve their 1-7 season record, their 8th place finish in the 12 team Calumet Conference, and their 6th place finish in the 26 team Hammond Sectional.

Harriers Led By New Coach

John Schilling shows the determination needed to last a two mile run.

Dyer Central's cross-country team suffered a disappointing season under new coach Tom Peyton. Mr. Peyton coached basketball and track at Kahler school last year and this year took over the coaching duties of Mr. Paul Hayes in cross-country. Coach Peyton built a young team around his three returning Senior lettermen but to no avail. The harriers finished twenty-fourth out of twenty-five teams in the Sectional meet at Hobart and finished last in the Conference race. Next year, with seven returning lettermen, the Indians promise to improve their record.

Coach Peyton watches the time closely as his runners condition themselves for a meet.

Intramural Activities Fill Noon Hours

MR. RUFF

With the longer lunch hour, many students were at a loss as to where to spend their time. This wasn't true for some seventy-five boys, though, who sacrificed eating to play intramural basketball. Under the able direction of Mr. Larry Ruff, nine teams entered into battle during two lunch periods. In the fourth hour the Mets, a junior team, slipped by the Zephers, a senior team, for first place. During the fifth hour, Senior #1 came in first over the Junior Tall Men plus One team and won the chance to meet the fourth hour winners for the championship. In the championship game, Senior #1 proved too tough for the Mets as they walked off with a 69-34 victory. Senior #1 then met the faculty all-stars during a school assembly. After a hard fought game, Senior #1 edged the teachers in over-time, 31-27.

People

Schaal is more than mortar and brick. . . more than a vast expanse of thick, shiny plate glass. . . more than a maze of long corridors . . . more than a flag waving gently in the breeze. A school is people-over one thousand people-who trudge lazily into the building each day to add vitality, hope, dreams, and aspirations to a lifeless hulk. Each student is alone, and yet each is a part of the unique throng; each is distinctive, yet each blends into the stream and surge of life; each projects an image, a figure of self-expression, real and yet illusory; fixed, but yet adaptive. Every day is filled with the toil, the strife, and the buoyant optimism of intrepid youth-students. Today's friends are tomorrow's strangers. . . yesterday's depression is today's exuberance. . . yesterday's frown is today's smile.

Within these walls we work-play-laugh-talk-and await the tomorrow which relieves us of the endless profusion of books and assignments. Within these walls, we gain stature and importance. . . we fuse in body and spirit to give our school personality. . . we create a public image by which our school is collectively known. As water gives life to a rose, so do we, as students, give life and substance to our school.

Day after day, month after month, year after year, these people which are now so imbued with life fade into the shadows of tomorrow and are gone. Who is this faceless anonymity which once occupied the center stage and gave school a meaning? On these pages are the people-the students-whose names and pictures are recorded lest we forget when our memories became hazy. Then, we can relive 1963-1964, and recall the gaiety, the anxiety, and the teeming mass which shared it with us.

Sam Mayhugh, sponsor of the class of 1964, has been a great asset to the smooth functioning of the class.

When the class of '64 were Freshmen, graduation was a remote idea. Even as Sophomores, to finally reach your twelfth year of school was a very distant dream. Junior year arrived and the dream began to take on the appearance of reality. Now, here we are, Seniors, the remote idea has grown into a remote and very near thing.

We can now look back to our first year of high school with very little remorse. But then, the turmoil of adjusting to school life; adjusting to the social intercourse which must take place in every student's life to be a well-balanced individual; adjusting to a strict observance of school rules and discipline, which we had not been accustomed to in elementary school; adjusting to all of these and many more customs and traditions which had been built up through the years by students just like ourselves, seemed to be more than we young and naive Freshmen could handle.

As Sophomores, the task of adjusting was not quite so formidable as it had been when we were Freshmen. Sophomore year was one of work rather than one of enjoyment and pleasure. We were merely nonentities, while a great throng of people moved around us.

Finally, as Junior year arrived, we began to realize what role we were playing in this drama. We enjoyed discovering new plateaus, filled with new and different thoughts and ideas. We reacted with joy to the adventure of meeting new people and seeing new faces. It was as if we had been like a great many rosebuds, all waiting their turn to open their petals and see life as it really is, and not as we had always heard it to be.

In a sense, we have something in common with Freshmen. As they are experiencing something new, so are we, as Seniors, going into a new field. However, this field will cause us to take on a great deal of responsibility. It will be the decisive point in the molding of our character; It will lead us into a great many and varied facets of capabilities and understanding; But most of all, it will be the last step that we shall take as a group, for from now on all of our decisions will be made as an individual.

Posing for the Echo photographers are the senior class officers. They have worked very diligently throughout the '63-'64 year. The President of the class is Wayne Shupp. Standing next to him is the Vice-President, John Sedlacek. Seated are Barbara Bucha, Treasurer, and Shirley Burbage, Secretary.

Seniors Receive

Nora Duncan is a National Merit Scholarship Finalist. She may receive a scholarship for her efforts, pending the decision of a board which will review all of her scores.

Melvin Peipha was chosen Valedictorian for having the highest grade average of the class of 1964. His average, which includes seven semesters work, was 3.97.

Karen Palm is the recipient of the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award. Karen was high scorer at Dyer on this nation-wide test.

Bestowed with one of Dyer's annual honors, Alan Armstrong and Laurel Vacari, visited Washington, D.C., and the United Nations. Their trip proved to benefit the whole school, since their experiences were related to the students via television.

High Honors

Alan Armstrong is the salutatorian of this year's graduating class. A great deal of time and effort have rewarded Alan with this high honor. He has a 3.9 average.

Jim Lewkowski received the Bausch and Lomb Science Award this year. Scientific aptitude earned him one of the school's higher honors.

Dayle Toth is the receiver of the DAR Award. She was judged on leadership, character, scholarship, and ability.

The Boys' and Girls' State Delegates and Alternates are Mike Muenich (Dele.), Alice Peifer (Dele.), Nora Duncan (Dele.), Dennis Giliam (Dele.), Rich Devine (Alt.), Sharon Fauser (Alt.), Sharon Putz (Alt.), and Jim Lewkowski (Alt.). They participated in government functions while they were there.

Sharon Putz and Mike Muenich received the Thom McAnn Leadership Award.

The Juniors strive for leadership through officers Honk Edwards, treasurer; Jackie Seibert, secretary; Kathy Zevovich, vice-president; and Larry Bibich, president.

The Juniors Strive

The Juniors, eager to cast a reputable shadow, organized their class quickly and efficiently.

The able leader of the class was Larry Bibich. His proficient officers were Kathy Zevkovich, vice-president; Jackie Seibert, secretary; Hank Edwards, treasurer. These officers led the class through a highly successful year.

Bursting forth in accordance with their previous victory, the Juniors captured the Y-Teen Homecoming Pep Rally. They received the first place trophy for the most enthusiastic and original cheer. In conjunction with their innumerable activities, the Juniors also sponsored a football game between the Junior girls and the Junior boys.

Raising funds is always the goal of the Junior class in anticipation of the major activity—the Junior-Senior Prom. The coke bar, the largest money making project, was effectively managed by the hard working Juniors.

Sophomores Choose

Wiser and more experienced in their second year of high school, the sophomore class officers have set a fine example of student leadership. Koren Wallis, (V.-Pres.); Bob Hite, (Treas.); Leon Putz, (Pres.); Mr. Tomjonovich, (Sponsor); and Georgionne Vicori, (Sec.).

With the shadows of the past year behind them, the sophomores look back on their preceding year with a sense of pride and accomplishment. Perhaps the most outstanding moment throughout their sophomore year was the receiving of their class sweaters. The sophomores proved to be an extremely active class in many varied activities. Whether it was sports, intramurals, achievement awards, or class participation, they always showed an endless degree of school spirit.

They are now looking forward to their junior year with its many activities and responsibilities. They are especially looking forward to the selection and receiving of their junior class rings, and the preparation of the junior-senior prom.

The sophomore class shows great promise of being another outstanding class that will add to the status of Dyer Central.

Freshmen Seek Acceptance

With enthusiasm, the Freshman class began forming their shadow as full-fledged "high-schoolers." They came; they saw; they were awe-stricken by the immensity of their new school life. New teachers challenged them; corridor traffic befuddled them; locker combinations frustrated them; school work plagued them. The Freshman, however, rallied from the brink of confusion. They came on gloriously to join the upper-classmen in the various school activities. To lead them through these activities, they have chosen four capable officers who will work along with the class sponsor Mr. Koets. Their remaining years of high school show a promise of success for the future.

Advertising

the lifeblood of business,
the pulse of free enterprise.

Advertising is the chief method of informing consumers of a product. It is a necessary function in our economic system. It forms the bridge between production and consumption. Through this media, people are acquainted with the excellence of merchandise.

Advertising is a creative art. It takes much thought, concentration, and cleverness to appeal to great masses of people. Advertising has played such an important part in our daily lives that we take it as a matter of course. Most people are so well conditioned that they can recite any slogan, sing any jingle, or recognize any silhouette of a common trademark.

Advertising makes big business possible. It is truly

the lifeblood of business,
the pulse of free enterprise.

As a member of the Senior Class, very soon you will be making a decision regarding a big step into the future. Perhaps your decision will be to go on for further education. Or it may be, you will be looking for the job of your choice. In either event, this decision will affect and shape your future life in many ways.

Regardless of what you decide, we hope that the Inland Steel Company will be a part of your future. Many graduates are currently involved in successful careers here at the Harbor Works as part of the nation's basic steel industry.

Steel mill work today is highly complex, involving automated production lines which require people who can be trained in skilled jobs. Most of the jobs are involved directly in the steel-making process while others are available in the laboratories or in various departmental offices. Regardless of your interests, excellent opportunities exist with Inland Steel.

In addition to excellent paying jobs and an outstanding benefit program, Inland offers a variety of on-the-job training programs plus the Purdue-Inland Program. This Program, offered to a full time employee, provides training in the areas of steelmaking, mechanics, and electricity. Plan now to investigate the many opportunities for your future with Inland Steel Company.
